

Xtreme Divers

Excellent weather, what a great day for a Treasure Hunt.

We started the day out with a General Assembly meeting that should go down in the record book as the shortest meeting ever held. Vote to change the General Assembly Meeting to be held in October, passed unanimously. A request for saving of soda can tops was placed for giving money to Ronald McDonald House when emergencies happen. Gavel adjourned meeting. If you weren't there, you missed it!

We had a wonderful day at the Treasure Hunt. Approximately 125-150 people attended and participated in diving for a washer to receive a gift. There were enough gifts that everyone went home happy.

We want to give a round of applause to the Army National Guard for the wonderful gifts that were donated on their behalf, and the fabulous job and support that they gave in setting up and breaking down in preparation for the day. It would not have run as smooth without each and everyone of you, including those that helped not in ANG.

Shane Conner barbequed pork and chicken that was finger lickin good, as always.

Black Beard Cruise: won by the infamous Paul Ray Caviness, the last drawing of the day.

Upcoming events:

We are planning an Xtreme Divers Club cookout on September 6th, which is Labor Day. We will dive and work on a low country boil, corn on the cob, potatoes, shrimp, sausage, and bottled water, filled with fellowship and friends to complete the day. O' yea, and then there was hotdogs. We hope you will join us in this celebration.

Don't know what's worse, being shot at or trying to kill yourself:

John Emerson recently returned from Iraq only to fly off again to Australia for fun in the sun. Bungee jumping, sky diving, white water rafting and diving the Great Barrier Reef.

What would it be like to be young again?

We would like to plan some trips to other parts of the world as groups diving. If there is a particular place that you might wish to visit, and you would like us to start a dive trip for, please let us know by emailing us at:

bcxtreme@earthlink.net

We can get quotes for air fair and trip together.
